The MBA recognizes the importance of law students having access to sufficient resources and information prior to graduating, taking the bar, and joining the legal profession. Law schools are typically equipped to provide legal training through classroom instruction, clinics and externship opportunities, but leadership training is rarely written into the curriculum. Through Leadership Scholars, the MBA strives to serve soon-to-be lawyers by providing participants with exposure, knowledge, and skills that will aid them in transitioning from law students to lawyers.

Law students can join the MBA for FREE!
